In Memoriam

The tragic death of Charles (Bill) Brown, who died from an accidental gunshot wound, terminated the career of a promising Jonesville athlete.

The young sports enthusiast was approaching his fifteenth birthday when death claimed him for a greater role in the hereafter.

Bill probably would have been a varsity basketball player in the coming season for he had shown great promise as a forward on the ninth grade quintet. He was a good shot under pressure and set up a lot of plays for his teammates.

Bill didn't stop at basketball though. He participated in football and baseball as well. Last year, he was a substitute halfback on the Jonesville eleven and first string shortstop on the 1951 Bluejay nine.

His interest in sports extended beyond the narrow limits of Jonesville High School, for Bill loved all sports, everywhere, and followed the doings of the major league teams right down to the home stretch. Anytime someone wanted the latest information in major league circles, Bill would have the answer on the tip of his tongue.

Bill was well-liked in and out of school. He was considered an above-average student in spite of his deep interest in sports.

His death was keenly felt by all who knew and loved him. An athlete until the very end, Bill Brown was in there pitching—until he was struck out.

"Forward ever, backward never."

FLOWER—White Roses

CLASS POEM

We the class of '52
Can say fair and true,
That we have done our best
And set an example for the rest;
The road was sometimes hard,
The will often weak,
But now we have finally reached the peak.
Up through the grades we fought,
Until we have reached the goal we sought;
And now we, the seniors, can say as ever
It's "Forward for us, and backward never."

Class History

Such a short time 'til graduation! The school year is running down like a tired clock, and, as I sit here dreaming of that momentous night when we, the class of '52, will make our last trip down the aisle to receive that long coveted diploma and to end our high school career, my mind slowly turns—yes, I'll have to admit, with a certain feeling of nostalgia—to another momentous day, in the early fall of 1940, when a group of wriggling, squirming, but cute, youngsters made their way to Jonesville school to enter upon a new phase of life. Those early years were happy years for us. Our time was spent in learning honesty, sportsmanship, and especially how to get along with our fellowmen.

We continued our school journey complacently and rather uneventfully for the first few years, occasionally dropping a student; occasionally adding one. After each summer vacation, we were only too happy to return to school and be greeted once more by our cheerful classmates, noting how much every one had grown over the summer. Time passed swiftly, and, at last, we reached the most exciting part of our grammar grade years—we were able to move our possessions to the high school building in the eighth grade! This was one of our most eventful years. We were recognized as the most lively, fun loving group in school. Yes, we were really having our fun! This was the year of the great "strike" when we decided, because we couldn't have our way, we wouldn't go to class. This was the year that both our boys and girls won a basketball tournament, sponsored by the P.T.A., and brought back, to our school, two trophies. How proud we were of them! I shall never forget our tour of Winston-Salem that year. The main feature of the trip, I believe, was our tour through Reynolds Tobacco Company. We especially enjoyed visiting Reynolds Park for lunch! While venturing there, we made snapshots that will be filed away with our many happy memories of our eighth grade.

Finally, the big day come for us to graduate into high school. How dressed up we were on that day! Each member of the class certainly looked his best—the girls with white dresses and red corsages and the boys with their suits and ties. We felt quite important! The summer passed swiftly, and, at the beginning of the school term, we found ourselves green freshmen. We soon learned from the important, dignified seniors that we were to be the first class to be initiated in Jonesville High School. We tried to drive thoughts of initiation from our minds, but rumors were quickly spreading about the frightening commands to be issued by the seniors. We survived the initiation, and, by the end of the day, we proved that we could be good sports. As we progressed in our freshmen year, we went through a silly and mischievous stage, and soon acquired the name of "giddy headed" freshmen. This year in school each of us became a part of high school by joining clubs, participating in sports, and, taking part in other activities. After passing our final exams, we once again enjoyed a summer vacation which really, though we wouldn't admit it then, seemed too long because we were eager to return to school for our sophomore year in school. We, as sophomores, held fast to the adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Our leisure moments were filled with laughter at little incidents which will be filed with our happy memories of J.H.S. Picnics and out door activities highlighted the activities of this school year.

Before we hardly knew it, we found ourselves jolly juniors—and our chief aim was to have the biggest junior-senior banquet ever to be held in Jonesville. Finally, banquet time rolled around. We carried out our "Good Luck" theme by using horseshoes, wishbones, and with rainbow colors to add to the beauty of the scene. Oh, how happy I feel when I think of that night! I am sure that each member of the class of '52 will never forget that memorable evening in May when we so graciously entertained the '51 seniors. As I look back on our junior year, I could never forget May 14, the beginning of our Washington trip, when a group of juniors were allowed to accompany the '51 seniors to Washington. My feet still hurt from the thoughts of walking up the steps in the Washington monument, and my heart skips a beat when I think of taking one more ride on the roller coaster. That was quite a trip, to say the least! As our bus rolled into Jonesville, all of us agreed that we had spent the most enjoyable week of our lives. Soon after the Washington trip "Good-Byes" were said to the seniors of '51, and we were next in line to occupy the place of honor in our school.

Our senior year started with a big crash—initiation for the freshmen. Since we received the effects of the first initiation, we were ready for revenge; therefore, we planned a day, for the freshmen, filled with stunts, a "square" meal, funny costumes, and, other amusing incidents. That night we served as host to the freshmen at a successful square dance in the gymnasium. As the year progressed, our days were spent in preparing for publication, the second edition of the Blue Jay. Our senior play was the highlight of the year's activity—what a year!

The present brings me back to reality, and I know that we must ever push onward in life. However, I know that I, as well as the other seniors of '52, are leaving behind me school days enriched with many happy memories of the past which cannot be destroyed.

Senior Class Prophecy

As I sit at my office desk and worry about taxes, bills, and everything that faces business men, I am tempted to day-dream about the time that I graduated from Jonesville High School in '52. I think that I shall never forget that beautiful night in June when we all marched up the aisle for our diplomas. The moon was shining unusually bright and it seemed that all the heavens were looking down with a song of gladness because another class had graduated and had started out into life. But many moons have come and gone since then. Let's take a moment to look back on all my classmates.

Edna Blackburn is nursing at Mercy Hospital in Morganton, N. C., while her husband, Joe Clay Everidge, is cutting logs nearby. I was inducted into the Army in October, 1952. I spent two years overseas, and while on duty there, I met Cpl. Marie Webster and Sgt. Wavalene Haynes. Marie was a paratrooper and Wavalene drove a truck. I surely was glad to see them. They returned in 1954 and married.

Jay Lee Vestal has finally achieved his goal. He is teaching mathematics in a public school in Tallahassee, Florida. Edna Armstrong and Ehtelene Sparks are slaving away at Hanes "Sock" Mill in Winston-Salem. Jim Hayes is a retired fisherman. Virginia Haynes, Treva Muncus, and Annie Mae Mitchell are expert beauticians. They own and operate their beauty salon. It is located at the corner of Broad and Narrow Street in Jonesville, North Carolina.

Remember Pedro Tilley and his ambition for a space career? He changed his mind after a two week stay in outer space and rushed home to settle.

After work, I must remember to stop at Morrison's Dry Cleaners. Frankie, my former classmate, gives me special rates on all my suits.

In today's paper a feature story appeared about Sonny Daye, who hit a home run to win the World Series for the Boston Thin Socks.

One of my classmates and close friends, Donald Pardue, is the father of twelve children. He is a janitor at Chatham Mfg. Co.

Tommye Anne Myers owns and operates the Swan Creek Air Port, where she employs some other seniors of '52. Virginia Myers is a stewardess and James Gentry is a pilot.

Hilda Gae Teague has established a new bakery in Jonesville. It is "Hilda's Bakery," Carolyn Bryant is her chief cook and bottle washer. They have very delicious products, which I enjoy occasionally.

I saw Linda Reece down town last week. She is still looking for a husband. I told her to go to New York and stay with Irene Minick. Irene is modeling fur coats and has a different date every night.

Delavinia Temple is selling Watkin's Products. She is doing a tremendous business.

Naomi Simmons is married and is living off her husband's pocketbook.

Ruby Hutchins is teaching shorthand at Hanes High School.

Betty Jean Roberson is a champion wrestler. Her superb form has won her wide acclaim. Incidentally, she appears on television every Saturday night.

J. L. Weatherman is teaching English at the University of North Carolina.

Nellie Ruth Atkins is a graduate nurse at Duke Hospital in Durham, N. C.

Blendon Martin is a chauffeur for the mayor of Jonesville.

Ruby Rhyne drives a truck for McLean Trucking Co. in Winston-Salem.

Bobby Parker drives a race car. Last year he finished third in the Indianapolis, Indiana classics.

Doris Oliver is married and living in Kansas. They own a four hundred acre farm, and their main crop is wheat.

Jane Vestal is now an attorney at law. She has proved her ability by winning every case so far. If you need a lawyer, Jane is capable of handling your case.

Can you imagine ministers and religious directors coming from our class? Well, it's true. The Reverend Kenneth Freeman is pastor of a very prominent church in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He is assisted by his wife, another senior of '52, Ann Poplin.

The Reverend John Madison is a widely known evangelist. He has conducted many revivals throughout the United States. Lucy Poplin is assisting her husband in pastoral work.

Doris Long is director of religious activities at her church in Jonesville.

Vera Nelson is a brick mason and she is employed by her father.

Peggy Cheek was the first grandmother from our class.

Mildred Finney and Inez Brown are government employees at Washington, D. C.

My! How time has passed. I must be on my way. To think of my classmates so dear, it costs me a sigh or perhaps a tear, but I must say, "O' class of '52, joyful is the remembrance of you!"
